

To Director ICEF, NRU HSE
Yakovlev S.M.
From the student(s) of the year 2
Belyy Grigory

Project Proposal

|                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Project title in Russian                                                                  | Анализ устойчивости финансовых рынков в условиях манипуляций и кризисов на основе сетевого подхода                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Project title in English                                                                  | Analysis of Financial Market Stability under Manipulation and Crisis Conditions using a Network-Based Approach                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Project type (research, applied)                                                          | Research                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Individual/Group                                                                          | Individual                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Students names (1 to max 3 for the group projects)                                        | Grigory Belyy                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Internal ICEF supervisor                                                                  | Petr Lukyanchenko                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| External supervisor/consultant, if needed place of work, registration numbers (ОГРН, ИНН) | -                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Description of project area                                                               | An applied network analysis of financial markets to assess their resilience to shocks and manipulative practices.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Project period (within 15/11.25 - 25/06/26)                                               | 15.11.25 – 25.06.2026                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Project tasks                                                                             | <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Conduct systematic literature reviews on market manipulation techniques and crisis trading strategies in a period of 2015-2025</li> <li>2. Develop a quantitative network model of a financial market and calculate key time-series metrics</li> <li>3. Apply the model to analyze known market events and manipulation cases.</li> <li>4. Compare the network structure and stability properties across different asset classes.</li> </ol> |
| Project stages (including presentation for the group projects)                            | <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Preparatory stage: literature review, data collection</li> <li>2. Methodological stage: model development, metrics calculation</li> <li>3. Analytical stage: case studies, market comparison</li> <li>4. Final stage: paper writing, presentation preparation</li> </ol>                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Expected results                                                                          | comprehensive research paper and presentation that delivers a quantitative network model, a stability-based classification of financial markets, and an analysis of their behavior during historical crises and manipulations                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Prerequisites/skills for project participation*                                           | -                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |

Agree:  Supervisor's signature, date, name

Approved:  N.Kogutovskaya

Date: _____ Students' signature, names (all the signatures in case of group projects)